

Player Code of Conduct Policy

The AWGA takes great pride in our players and their representation of us as an Association. They have helped us to build an impeccable reputation within the golf community. Our reputation among players and golf courses alike is very important to the AWGA. The following is the policy the Arizona Women's Golf Association has adopted with regards to player misconduct and etiquette problems at an AWGA tournament/event. This policy is based on the guidelines established by the USGA in Section I Etiquette of the Rules of Golf.

- In order to take action, all complaints must be made in writing.
 - Written complaints should be received within 10 days of the incident.
 - Emailed complaints are acceptable forms of written complaints
- Any proposed action/communication must be reviewed by the tournament committee prior to being taken.
- The subject of the complaint will receive proper notification of the complaint and warnings with regards to their behavior as is detailed in the Player Misconduct and Etiquette Procedure.
- If at any time the Tournament Committee Chair deems the nature of the incident is severe enough, the complaint may be taken straight to the Board for immediate action.
- Multiple or repeated complaints may result in consequences up to and including suspension from play in AWGA events.
